The ECONOMY At a Glance

- The U. S. economy has experienced more than five years of uninterrupted growth, averaging 2.9 percent a year since 2001. (White House Office of Communications, "Fact Sheet: Job Creation Continues," Press Release, 6/1/07)
- Job growth has continued for an impressive 45 straight months, with more than 8 million new jobs added since mid-2003 and the passage of the second round of GOP tax cuts. (White House Office of Communications, "Fact Sheet: Job Creation Continues," Press Release, 6/1/07)
- The economy is experiencing record low unemployment as 4.5 percent in May—one of the lowest readings in six years. (U.S. Dept. of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, "The Employment Situation: May 2007," Press Release, 6/1/07)
- The federal deficit has been cut in half and is moving rapidly towards balance as a result of surging tax receipts from strong economic growth. The American Shareholders Association reports that the federal deficit has been reduced by more than $300 billion in three years, and will finish the fiscal year below 1 percent of GDP. (Donald Lambro, Op-Ed, "Success Stories Under the Radar," The Washington Times, 2/19/07; American Shareholders Association Web site, americanshareholders.com, accessed 5/8/07)

The President's Message
October Newsletter 2007

An unkind summer of drought and heat leaves us with little color for the fall, but with renewed vigor as our City election looms near. Remember, if you are in a district that has a primary, be sure and get to the polls on October 9.

We're doing a sterling job of supporting The Fisher House. Remember, this is the month for beverages and accessories. Tea, coffee, hot cocoa mix, creamer, sweeteners, bottled water, canned and bottled soft drinks.

The Nominating Committee will present its slate of officers for the 2008 year. In November, the nominations will be opened for nominations for the floor, and officers will be elected.

Beginning October 10, the campaigns go into full gear for the November election. You can be assured that our Republican candidates will need our help putting up signs and other events associated with running for public office.

The 2008 Presidential campaigns give us a myriad of choices. Being true to our bylaws, our Club and its officers cannot support a single candidate until after the 2008 primaries, but the current crop of candidates makes it hard not to have a favorite. Major issues continue to be gun control, abortion, the Iraqi war and immigration. Every day, the news shows are loaded with speeches and opinions from the candidates, stating their positions on a variety of topics. I know it gets hard to listen to the politicos yammer on and on, but it's how one finds what a candidate really stands for. I, personally, have a problem with the early primary states operating under the presumption that they will do our choosing for us.

After General Petraeus' valiant testimony before Congress, my own feelings are best expressed by the following quote from P.J. O'Rourke, a journalist, who says in his Introduction to "Give War A Chance," 1992, "The principle feature of contemporary American Liberalism is sanctimoniousness. By loudly denouncing all bad things - war and hunger and date rape - liberals testify to their own terrific goodness. More important, they promote themselves to membership in a self-selecting elite of those who care deeply about such things. People who care a lot are naturally superior to we who don't care any more than we have to. By virtue of this superiority, the caring have a moral right to lead the nation. It's a kind of natural aristocracy, and the wonderful thing about this aristocracy is that you don't have to be brave, smart, strong or even lucky to join it; you just have to be a liberal. Kidnapping the moral high ground also serves to inflate liberal ranks. People who are, in fact, just kindhearted are told that because they care, they must be liberals, too."

Qui desiderat pacem praeparet bellum,
(Let him who wants peace, prepare for war.)

THE FISHER HOUSE

vvvvv

The needs of the Fisher House are significant. Let's keep these precious folks in our hearts by designating each month as a donation period of specific items.

October: Coffee, Coffee supplies, Water, Soft Drinks

November: Canned Meats, Soups

December: Linens, (towels, sheets, pillow cases)

Of course, you may bring any of the items on your list to any meeting. Suzanne Rucker has graciously offered to deliver the goods to the Fisher House.

You may make cash donations as well. All donations are fully tax deductible, so keep a log of your donated goods and cash and a record of your checks. The Fisher House is part of Caring for America, a State project of the NCFRW.
